AMES BRINGS MUCH-TOUTED ELEVEN HERE

Conference Season Will Open Tomorrow When Tigers Meet Cyclones on Rollins Field.

GAME CALLED AT 2:30
Outcome of the Contest Will Eliminate One Team From Valley Race—Result Doubtful.

THE PROBABLE LINEUP
Missouri: Ames, Le. Loughlin, Hill, lb. Elson, Scott, lg. Morrison, Sumner, c. Wallace (capt.), Blumer, rg. Church, Hamilton, rf. Lingenfelter, Lewis, qh. Higgins, Kershaw, th. Schooley, Humes, dh. Ibb. Young, Lincoln, th. Ibb. Currie, Gaylor.
Officials: Referee—J. C. Grover; Umpire—C. E. McBride; Head Linesman—H. S. Thomas.
Game called at 2:30 p. m. Time of quarters, 15 minutes.

Tiptown may be a sad and forlorn village tomorrow night if the Iowa State College Cyclones do as much as some expect them to. According to many deponents the Cyclones are the best aggregation that the state of Iowa has ever boasted of.

All of Tiptown is eagerly awaiting the first whistle that signals the opening of the 1921 conference football season. Two smaller foes have proved easy prey for the usually crafty Tiger. Tomorrow will be the real test for the stalwart representatives of the "Show" state.

The slightly crippled Tiger eleven will enter the fray with spirits high. Jim Phelan and Jerry Jones, worthy tutors of the wearers of the Old Gold and Black, have nursed their athletes, taught them the three "R's" of the rugged national football sport and for the past few days have kept their ears buzzing with the tricks and ability of the invading machine.

Never did the fates put so much at stake for a Missouri team as will be fought for by eleven Tigers tomorrow. A win has a verdict being quite so uncertain this early in the season. A defeat to either team would virtually eliminate it from the race for the Missouri Valley Conference title. The Iowa contingent is supremely confident of victory. Missouri is quiet, yet determined. From the work of the Tiger line under first coach the chief hope for Tiger victory.

The Ames line is the "Big Bertha" with which Maury Keat intends to steam roller the Iowa eleven. By sheer weight and brute strength, he expects his forward wall to literally roll the Old Gold and Black line backward when the Iowa Collegians start their march to the goal, and when the Tigers start an attack he expects them to push the juggernaut aside and grab the local backs.

Tiger scouts brought back from Iowa last week much commendation of the Ames line, "Polly" Wallace, All-American center, is the Hercules of the position. About him they have erected their offense and built their defense. Perhaps too much hope is being laid by them in Wallace. If so, then it will not be so hard for the Missourians. At one end, Higgins moves almost as fast as the winged feet carried Mercury. Lingenfelter at one tackle is said to play that position with a "kick" like Dempsey and the speed of that demon turf horse "Man O' War." Nine veterans will face the Tigers at one end or another in the tilt tomorrow. Zink, a letter man for the past two seasons, will sit upon the sidelines and watch more competent teammates fight with the angry Tiger.

Gaylor, the Ames fullback, comes reputed as greater than Allan Lincoln, the Tiger fullback. Jerry Jones, Tiger line coach, in one word describes him as a "wonder." Young, a half back, is said to be as versatile as Lewis in that he kicks, runs and passes with equal proficiency.

Nevertheless, the Tigers outweighed in the line, opposed by an eleven more experienced, will make a great fight. Ames athletes, who are for the most part Hawkeye state farmers, are said to be in wonderful physical condition, which can hardly be said about the Tigers.

None can tell which way the wind will blow tomorrow.

AMES HERE THIS MORNING

Tiger Opponents Bring 25 Men—Outweigh Missouri Eleven.

The Ames football machine encamped near the fair of the Tigers early this morning after arriving from Des Moines in a sleeper. Maurice Keat, head coach and C. W. Mayer, athletic director, were in charge of the delegation of twenty-five players. Coach Keat brought every available man to Columbia who might be of any assistance in squelching the Tiger.

Coach Keat took his charges for a tour of the golf links this morning. This afternoon they were scheduled to go through a short signal practice at Rollins Field.

Fifty-Four Years of Service in Business Here and Still Working

R. B. Price and W. M. Scott, Columbia's oldest business men.

W. M. Scott of Baker and Scott's grocery celebrated the fifty-fourth anniversary of his entrance into business on October 8. Mr. Scott is the oldest merchant in Columbia, having been either employed in or a member of a mercantile firm in this city for fifty-four years. He says that October 8 was the date of his birthday, his first job and his only wedding.

R. B. Price, oldest banker in Columbia, says that he remembers W. M. Scott when he might have been clasped with a trundle-bed children. Mr. Scott was born four miles west of Columbia in the days when slaves produced everything needed by the farmer's family. He remembers that his father paid out only $50 during one year for the support of his wife and eight children. This sum was spent for brown cotton cloth and shoes.

In those pre-war days Moss Prewitt, pioneer merchant and banker, joined with R. B. Price to form the firm of Prewitt and Price, bankers. Their bank was first located in the present home of the Peck Drug Co. In 1858 a three-story brick house occupied the present drug store lot and the first floor of this bank was ten feet below the street grade. The offices contained no letter presses, no adding machines and no typewriters. Instead of blotting paper, sand was sprinkled on the newly written letters from tin boxes not unlike pepper boxes.

The bank and the grocery were in those days the principal meeting places for farmers. They came in, deposited their saddlebags in a corner of the room, received letters and messages which had been left for them, and transacted their business there. Few inquiries were made for local mail at the post office. Mail from the outside world came three times a week from St. Louis by stage.

On February 11, 1859, sufficient stock was subscribed to found a Columbia branch of the Exchange Bank of St. Louis and on August 25 of the same year R. B. Price became cashier. The home of the new bank was at the south-west corner of Ninth and Broadway in a two-story brick building.

Mr. Price remained cashier when the Columbia branch of the Exchange Bank of St. Louis was succeeded by the First National Bank of Columbia. This bank began business August 19, 1863 and went into liquidation the following year. The decision of the directors to place the bank in liquidation came on the day of the Centralia massacre. Mr. Price was instructed to go to Washington to deposit with the Secretary of the Treasury the funds necessary to redeem the outstanding bank notes. This he did and withdrew the bank's government bonds. The sale of these bonds in New

INQUIRING REPORTER

"What do you think of the plan to cut the wages of railroad workers?" he asked five persons picked at random.

Dr. Virgil Blakemore, Exchange National Bank Building: "It is the proper thing to do in order to get prices down to normal."

T. G. Hazelton, union laborer, 405 Hind avenue: "It is outrageous to cut wages unless rates are lowered."

W. E. Tarr, traveling salesman, St. Louis: "If passenger and freight rates are lowered by the cut, it is all right."

W. H. Vandevanter, Parker Furniture Co.: "Lower wages are a good thing if other prices fall."

Frank B. James, carpenter: "People can't live on lower wages in such hard times, especially in the cities."

Five Admitted to Hospital.
Ethel Wakefield, Emmett Ahlborn, Vivienne Hargis and Joseph Barnett were admitted to Parker Memorial Hospital yesterday. Mary W. Jones and Frances Hansman were discharged. Strawn Wilcox was admitted this morning.

NEW HOSPITAL IS TO BENEFIT ENTIRE STATE

Services Will Be Extended to Citizens Throughout Commonwealth as Well as Students.

EXPERT STAFF PLANNED
Clinical Facilities Will Make Possible Full Medical Course Leading to M. D. Degree.

A plan of growth for the new University hospital for the erection of which the State Legislature recently appropriated $250,000 has been mapped out, according to Dean Guy L. Noyes of the School of Medicine.

The execution of the plan will bring to Columbia enough patients to warrant an expansion of the hospital from 100 beds, which will be its capacity at first to 300 beds eventually. When it has reached this latter size, it will furnish a sufficient variety of cases for clinical study, by students, to warrant the inauguration of a four-year course of medicine and the granting of the degree of doctor of medicine.

Dean Noyes bases his hopes for expansion upon action by the Legislature whereby a "feeder system" will be instituted. By this system the hospital will take on a dual nature of state and student hospital. A law is being considered, and is expected to be passed which will provide for sending to the University, patients from all over the state. Judges of probate, circuit and county courts will be empowered to assign, after a doctor's recommendation, patients to the University hospital for treatment. The city or county from which the patient comes will pay the University for the medical attention.

Success is anticipated for this plan, for it will serve two ends at the same time benefiting the state by service to its citizens and the University by furnishing patients for clinical study on the part of its students. Patients will not be used to "experiment" on. Their sickness will be diagnosed by experts from the hospital staff of physicians and explained to medical students.

Aside from assistance by legislation, Dean Noyes expects the hospital to grow from other sources. He anticipates a development of certain points of excellence in hospital work, which will create a demand for treatment at the University hospital. A complete staff of hospital physicians and surgeons will be in charge. Expert specialists of all kinds will be employed, so that a patient needing a particular kind of treatment can get it without having to be sent away to a specialist.

Natural forces such as heat, light and water will be employed for treatment. If a patient needs treatment by water—hydrotherapy—by heat—radiation—by light or electricity, he can get it. In general, the hospital is to be all-inclusive in its services.

JOHN BALSAMO FOUND GUILTY

12 Months in Jail and $700 Fine Is Jury's Verdict—Case Appealed.

"Twelve months in jail and a fine of $700," was the verdict brought in by the jury this morning in the case of John Balsamo, who was charged with violating the local option law. An appeal for a retrial was made by E. C. Anderson, attorney for the defense.

Balsamo, who used to run a fruit store across the street from the Daniel Boone Tavern on Broadway, was arrested September 18, 1920, after the police had raided his place and found 75 gallons of whisky and 26 barrels of mash, following the alleged sale of a quart of raisin liquor for $10.

Balsamo was urged to make a plea of guilty, as the evidence was shown to be almost conclusive against him. His defense was that the liquor he had sold was not intoxicating, although Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Hulen, introduced evidence which showed that the whisky tested 180 proof.

The verdict against Balsamo was the heaviest penalty imposed before Judge David H. Harris in this term of the Boone County Circuit Court. The jury was out 30 minutes.

The case against Edward Roberts and Walter Turner was dismissed at the cost of the defendants.

Balsamo has appealed to the Kansas City Court of Appeals. In the meantime, he is out on a $1,000 bond.

FUND IS RAISED FOR DORMITORY

Local Methodists Would "Beat Texas" to Get Women's Building Here.

"Beat Texas" has become the slogan of the Women's Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society at the Broadway Methodist Church. At a meeting of the auxiliary today, $1,000 was subscribed toward a proposed $100,000 dormitory for the Methodist women students in the University.

The Women's Council of the Southern Methodist Church of the United States, has given $25,000 toward the construction of this dormitory, and if the remaining $75,000 can be raised among the members of the Missionary Society in Missouri before a similar amount is subscribed in Texas, the building will be erected in Columbia. Hence the slogan, "Beat Texas." The members of the Auxiliary in Columbia, besides giving $1,000, are asking $5 from every member of the Missionary Society throughout the state. There are approximately 2,500 members.

The dormitory will be the property of the Women's Council of the Methodist Church of the United States, and of the local church. Bishop McMurray will be in Columbia November 3, when a site for the building is to be selected. A committee is now at work on options for a site. The dormitory will be part of the Broadway Methodist Church building program, which includes a new $300,000 home for the church.

ULTIMATUM OF RAIL WORKERS IS TO STRIKE

Executives Defy Most Powerful Labor Union in the Nation and Will Slash Wages.

2,000,000 MEN TO QUIT

Shop Work Is to Remain on Time Payment Rates Instead of on Piece-work Basis.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Railroad union chiefs with their strike vote in their pockets today asked railroad executives for a conference to discuss the wage scale and employment conditions.

The executives replied that the proposal would be taken up at the executives' meeting called to discuss further reduction in wages.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Rail workers hurled an ultimatum at their employers today by deciding to strike October 20 unless negotiations on wages and working conditions were reopened.

Railway executives who met here today defied the most powerful labor union in the Nation by proceeding with their plan to slash wages in the face of the strike. They probably will ask that wages be cut 10 per cent so that freight rates may be reduced.

The decision to strike was reached by heads of the railway brotherhoods early today following several days of conferences. According to the plan mapped out by the union heads, the men on all lines will not be called out at once. The Nation's transportation system has been divided into ten groups for strike purposes.

Workers on roads comprising one group will be called out first. Then if the management refuses to confer with the men in view of better wages and working conditions the workers in the next group will be called out and so on down the line until every one of the 2,000,000 union workers has deserted his post and helped tie up the Nation's transportation system.

The strike vote was taken by the shopmen several weeks ago in protest against the 12 per cent cut in wages which took place on July 1 on order of the United States Railway Labor Board.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Railway shopworkers today won a sweeping victory when the United States Railway Labor Board handed down a decision refusing to approve a petition of the railway executives that all shop work be placed on a piece-work basis of payment instead of on hourly rates.

The Northwestern Railroad, acting with other lines, had asked for the abolition of the principle of paying straight time for work in the shop. The board held that men should be paid on an hourly basis and that eight hours should constitute a day's work.

However, if both carriers and employees agree that work be paid for on a piecework basis it would be a violation of the board's order. The board upheld the railroad's contention that shop workers should be forced to undergo a physical examination.

The board also held that one, two or three shifts may be used in the shops and the starting time may be adjusted by mutual agreement. It was also decided that employees working on Sunday must be allowed a full day or released on their own request.

BORAH ATTACKS HARDING'S NOTE

Utah Senator Says Interest in Arms Conference Is Dampened by President.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—President Harding's letter declaring total disarmament out of the question at this time is an unfortunate attempt to dampen the Nation's enthusiasm over the coming international parity, Senator Borah said today.

Borah, author of the original disarmament resolution in the Senate, declared that men were sent to prison during the war for disparaging utterances.

"This conference is more important than the war," said Borah, "and the people should not be led to expect little or nothing of it."

Allen of Kansas, accompanied by members of their staffs, will arrive Sunday morning to pay tribute to the memory of Herbert Williams, the first Columbia boy killed in the World War. All former service men will meet at the Parker Furniture Company at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning to act as part of the funeral escort from there to the auditorium. The University Military band will lead the procession and the escort will include Governor Hyde and his staff, Governor Allen and his staff, Col. J. E. Rieger who was William's battalion commander in the Argonne, and Mayor James Gordon.

The War Mothers are requested to go directly to the University Auditorium where seats will be reserved for them.

After the ceremony at the auditorium the body will be taken to the Garden Church at Wilton where the Reverend George Edwards of Macon City will conduct the services and where the members of the Herbert Williams Post of the American Legion will bury with military honors the man for whom their chapter was named.

Williams was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pinckney Williams of Columbia. He was killed the morning of September 29, 1918, when he was advancing with his company just beyond the village of Exmont, in a general advance of the division. Corporal Conley Fay and Corporal Frank Melloy, both of Columbia, were near Williams when he fell.

"There were thirteen in the bunch that was lost from the rest of the battalion," said Corporal Fay. "We had been in a box barrage about half an hour before and the men became scattered. The thirteen of us were advancing up a hill thinking that we were behind our main line."

"All at once we found ourselves only ten feet from some German machine guns which were hidden in the thick woods. The gunner waited until we were very close, then opened fire. Williams with his gun half-way raised, fell immediately, a bullet in his neck. Of course we all dropped to the ground. We killed the gunner and then made rushes back and forth. We were under fire from all directions and it seemed like another box barrage. Then we came to our own line about one hundred yards back of us."

Three or four hours later we were in the same line again but had to fall back. Four of the thirteen were killed and several were wounded."

The point where Williams was killed was the farthest reached by any member of the Thirty-fifth Division.
